WINEMAKING & AGING

The Evel Tinto is produced from vines planted at Quinta das Carvalhas, Quinta dos Aciprestes and Quinta de Cidrô, located in Pinhão, Vale do Tua and São João da Pesqueira. The first two locations benefit from a warm climate where wines are structured and elegante while Quinta de Cidrô benefits from a cool climate that permits the slow maturation of grapes and the production of aromatic wines with smooth tanins.

Fermentation and maceration take place in stainless steel tanks at a controlled temperature. The wine ages in oak vats for the period of 8 months in excellent natural aging conditions.
